The LAPADA Art & Antiques Fair returns to the impressive surrounds of Berkeley Square, Mayfair, this September. Sponsored by Delancey, the LAPADA Fair is a must-visit event for sourcing and buying art, antiques, design and decorative arts. It will take place from Tuesday 22nd September until Sunday 27th September 2015.

Over 100 distinguished exhibitors offer a wide spectrum of exceptional works in a breadth of disciplines, including furniture, jewellery, carpets, tapestries, antiquities, clocks, ceramics, silver and fine art, in the heart of London. Works on offer range from £500 to several hundreds of thousands, attracting the most discerning collector while also encouraging first time buyers to develop new interests.

Each exhibitor, as a member of LAPADA the Association of Art & Antiques Dealers, adheres to a strict Code of Practice. This, combined with an expert committee of 70 specialists who pre-vet every piece, ensures the quality and authenticity of every item on sale at the LAPADA Fair.

The LAPADA Fair's popularity continues to grow due to its reputation as a veritable kunstkammer or modern day cabinet of curiosities, brimming with the most sought after works from trusted LAPADA members. The seventh annual LAPADA Fair, which has been extended due to visitor demand, follows the success of last year's event, where more than 20,000 visitors from around the world flocked to attend over the course of five days.

The LAPADA Fair is delighted to welcome back the specialist real estate investment and advisory company, Delancey, an organisation with a commitment to supporting cultural heritage and the arts, for its second year as Principal Sponsor.

Every year, more than 28,000 people are diagnosed with cancer in London, facing tough questions, exhausting treatment and difficult emotions that can range from anxiety to loneliness and isolation. These challenges affect not only those with cancer, but their family and friends too. Built in the grounds of specialist NHS cancer hospitals, Maggie's Centres are places with professional staff on hand to offer the support people need. They are places to find practical advice about benefits and eating well; places where qualified experts provide emotional support; friendly places to meet other people; calming spaces simply to sit quietly with a cup of tea.

Maggie's aim is to be there for anyone and everyone with cancer across London, offering a programme of support based on evidence proven to strengthen physical and emotional wellbeing. There are 18 Maggie's Centres across the UK, online and abroad, including Maggie's West London, built in the grounds of Charing Cross Hospital, which has been supporting people with cancer in the capital since 2008. Maggie's are now working in partnership with Barts Health NHS Trust and The Royal Marsden NHS Foundation Trust to offer Maggie's programme of support from two new Centres - Maggie's Barts and Maggie's at The Royal Marsden - extending their support even further across London. www.maggiescentres.org/londoncampaign
